THE PANEL EXPERTS

Dóra Virág Dudás

Administrative Judge, President of Chamber, Budapest Regional Court, Hungary

Dóra Virág Dudás comes from Budapest, Hungary. She joined the Budapest Regional Court in March 1997 and is currently covering the role of Administrative Judge, President of Chamber, Head of Section, and Judicial Trainer in European law. In these positions she deals with various fields of public administrative law with primary focus on migration, presides over judicial review proceedings, coordinates the job of administrative judges and court staff, and provides jurisdictional and judgeship training. Her special expertise is asylum law, in which she lectures both at national and international level. She obtained a PhD in human rights law from the ELTE University in Budapest in 2014. She was previously seconded for one year with the Registry at the European Court of Human Rights in Strasbourg, where she drafted legal decisions. Another ten months of judicial internship were spent at the Court of the European Union in Luxembourg. She also has a work experience as a lecturer in undergraduate studies, with focus on international law. She has been participating in the activities of the IARMJ and the AEAJ, she has published a comprehensive human rights handbook, and since 2022 she is member of the EUAA Judicial Experts' Pool.

Stergios Kofinis

Judge, Administrative Court of First Instance of Thessaloniki, Greece

Stergios Kofinis comes from Larisa, Greece. He became an administrative judge in 2013 and since then he has been serving at the Administrative Court of First Instance of Thessaloniki. He is currently appointed at the 2nd Chamber of the Court, which hears asylum and immigration cases. He obtained a PhD in Constitutional Law from Aristotle University of Thessaloniki in 2016. His thesis was on equality and non-discrimination. He has published and edited papers and books and given talks on topics related to equality and non-discrimination, asylum law, immigration law, artificial intelligence and constitutional rights. He was a member of the Independent Appeals Committees of the Ministry of Migration and Asylum for two years (2019-2020). He is teaching at the National School of Judiciary since 2019 and is a regular speaker in EJTN seminars since 2021.
